

YOUR VIEWS

legacy:

very special a end March 8. a era? The end The end of a d of a gentlet's safe to say, ve."

boy when Joe 'eer was windely remember ne game. I do grandfather name on nums. That was ground. My 1 immigrant. i the "new" 1y named Dimilar backig good, bebecoming a ng pride to ns, much the itra did. Yet, are these girld.

nted all that baseball and be missed ans of today emulate his played hard se he never ld would be or the first

vorld was ind we all

Gugliuzza EATONTOWN

ion rted

vacska has ed of sexumentally boys. Dethe most possible,

PAUL TONG/Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Listen to youths on fighting bias

Listen to the voices of the children, in sample titles from 120 posters sent by fourth and fifth graders for Monmouth County Human Relations Commission's poster contest on fighting hate, bias and discrimination:

"Respect! People." "We can all see with our hearts" (on a poster with a boy with a seeing-eye dog). "Help, don't hate!" "Be nice to everyone even though they're not like you!" "Color doesn't matter." "Let's all get along." "Care for each other." "Respect disabled people" and, especially poignant and relevant to the recent torture of a young disabled man, "Sticks and stones hurt just as much as names."

Noting that "you have to be carefully taught ... to hate all the people your relatives hate," the Human Relations Commission calls on all people to listen to these messages from the children.

Carolyn Schwebel
COMMUNICATIONS CHAIRWOMAN
MONMOUTH COUNTY
HUMAN RELATIONS COMMISSION
FREEHOLD

and are disturbed by the attitude of the media.

Sister Mary Emmanuel
FOR EIGHT
SISTERS OF MERCY
SAINT ANN CONVENT
KEANSBURG

Top cop fired for telling truth

State Police Superintendent Col. Carl Williams has been fired for racial remarks given to questions posed by a reporter. These answers by an experienced law enforcement professional will forever brand this man a racist, at the expense of the truth. Williams was obviously sacrificed for political correctness, as well as to save political careers.

As one who drives major roadways on a daily basis. I see traffic stops on the sides of the road of all types of people. I do not wonder why they were stopped or for what infraction. I am just proud when I see a police officer of any color doing his job. I see those who are stopped as one group, not as white, black, Asian, etc., but as those who may have broken the law and who deserved to be stopped and made accountable for their actions.

A law enforcement professional with far more experience than those who criticize him spoke of the actual and everyday experiences of those in law enforcement who we pay to protect and serve. These men and women in every town in America do a job 24 hours a day that many of us fail to appreciate.

The old adage "nobody wants to see a cop until they

Republican Legislature cifically have been about this issue is mislead Your portrayal of local publican leaders as uncerned and silent on issue is faulty at best.

My office has been exping all the various optiand investigating all penent factors. The office communicated with a nuber of residents as well grass-roots environmen groups. I attended the recepublic forum and heafrom individual citizens well as varied other intested parties. Further, have continued to discrete concerns of my constients with officials in Treton.

The Republican legis tors have been out front this issue attempting to certain a clear and direction signal from the varying paties weighing in on the issue. At this time, it abundantly clear that a consensus has not been established.

The residents of Ma boro, along with taxpaye throughout New Jerse elected officials and a my iad of environment groups, have all voiced the opinions on what to do withe former Marlboro Psychatric Hospital.

Should the tract remai open space? Should the trabe sold off, whole or in par for development? Is furthe development of the site po sible without endangering precious watershed? Wha about the prospect of secu ing a section of the tract fo building a school in Mar boro? And how do we tak into account the concerns (not only local taxpayers, bu of taxpayers throughout th state, who question redeve opment over the governor' stated plan of preserving million acres over the nex 10 years?

These are weighty questions. Questions that should not be shrugged off by editorial writers quick to suggest to potential Democratic candidates that a hasty objection to redevelopment lieve Krivacska's conviction was a glaring miscarriage of Keansburg